Bhagavad Gita Chapter 15

The fifteenth Chapter of the Bhagavad Gita is one of the rarest pieces of literature available in the world, which indicates the "Infinite" so directly.

In this chapter, the nature of the Spirit is discussed in all its implications.

If we follow this chapter in its logical build-up with full concentration, invariably the listener "arrives" at that state and gets at least a "glimpse" of it.

So unique is this chapter in its brevity and beauty that no explanation about it can do justice to it. One has just to listen and experience its power for oneself.

In India, from ancient days onwards this chapter has been recited before taking food.
